Anaheim, California

DEDICATION

This book is dedicated to those young men and women who have gone, or soon will go, into the service of their country. They go, that in days to come, others may attend a free Anaheim Union High School.

Well, it's about time!

I've been around this school for 51 years now and this is the first time I've been seen.

I'm the SPIRIT OF AUHS. I attend all the dances, games and assemblies. I even get to a few tests. Remember the one you thought you'd flunk, but didn't? Well?

Just as soon as this cartoonist gets my foot finished, I'm going to take you on a guided tour of the campus . . . back through the familiar hall-ways. . . . back through the events of last year.

Let's Start at the Front Door . . .

Walk with me up the main steps, around the AUS emblem embedded in the marble floor, passed the full trophy cases to the main office. There you may find . . .

. . . Some of the "wheels" you elected

STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT J M WALSWORTH and VICE - PRESIDENT REL SCHMITT. Tall, confident Jim Walsworth presided over cabinet meetings, elections, and assemblies with capable informality. "Veep" Schmitt, red-headed, easy going, presided over the court.

last year . . . the Cabinet . . .

Upper Left: Jeannene Sanders, Secretary of Records;
Center: Ronnie Bevins, Secretary of Treasury; Lower Left: Barbara Trapp, Secretary of Girls Athletics,
Upper Right: Dennis Denny, Secretary of Student Affairs; Center: JoAnn Wood, Secretary of Safety and Welfare, Lower Right: Ronnie Faulkner, Secretary of Boys Athletics

PAUL H. DEMAREE,
Advisor

The Student Council, which makes the laws. . .

Bottom Row (left to right) Carole Sloman, Peggy Kohlenberger, Pat Santi, Linette Blanchard, Jean Cole, Margaret Gardner, Darlene Fitts, Donna Heaton, Jimmy Hurley. Second Row Jim Moore, Robert Boyce, Jerry Nielson, Kenneth Mackay, Carl Starnes. Third Row Elma Clamp, Dick Rold, Tom Lawler, Paul Salazar, Tom Brown, Bob Santibanez, Sam Okamoto. Top Row, Fernando Ramos, Jerry Boren, Leonard Weaver, Jack Conklin, Dean Stokes, Chuck Bell, Ronald Legg, Benny Mattox.

These were the student law-givers. Led by President Elma Clamp and supervised by Mason Henry, the group met monthly. Members were elected by student vote from social studies classes. Big problem of 1950-'51 was the revamping of the constitution.

Filing demerits and personally dealing with student law breakers kept the Student Court a busy place throughout the year. Chosen by the student commission, they convened regularly during third period. Rel Schmitt presided over the group.

Now on into the Administration offices

MRS. LOIS WHITTINGTON was Vice-Principal and Dean of Girls.

W. RALPH FOHT supervised attendance and was evening school principal.

CLYDE NICKLE, assistant superintendent, directed school business office.

FRANK KELLOGG, Dean of Boys and Vice-Principal, dealt with student citizenship, taught physics, supervised the student court and advised the Colonist Club and Toastmasters.

... and into the inter-sanctum of the Board of Trustees

E. M. CONE

J. A. BAKER

H. T. WALSWORTH

A. H. SHIPKEY

R. C. CAWTHORN

PAUL H. DEMAREE, PRINCIPAL AND DISTRICT SUPERINTENDENT

Now meet the representatives of all Connies . .

Shelley Smith, President; Jerre Locke, Vice-President; Joyce Enloe, Secretary; Phoebe Merri-man, Treasurer

The Girls League, composed of all the girls of ADHS, sponsored assemblies, other activities. Above, girls watch motion picture

... and of all Elems

Education and entertainment was offered in Colonist club regular assemblies. This group watches a motion picture Clubtime for boys found AUHS boys attending interest groups that ranged from chess to photography. Here he radio club meets.

Automatic membership in the Colonist club is awarded all boys of Anaheim High. Functioning under direction of L. Frank Kellogg, the organization worked at providing educational diversion for male members of the campus.

. . gave the Red Cross new importance

These important people handled maintenance

MRS. ADELE NESMITH,
Cafeteria Manager

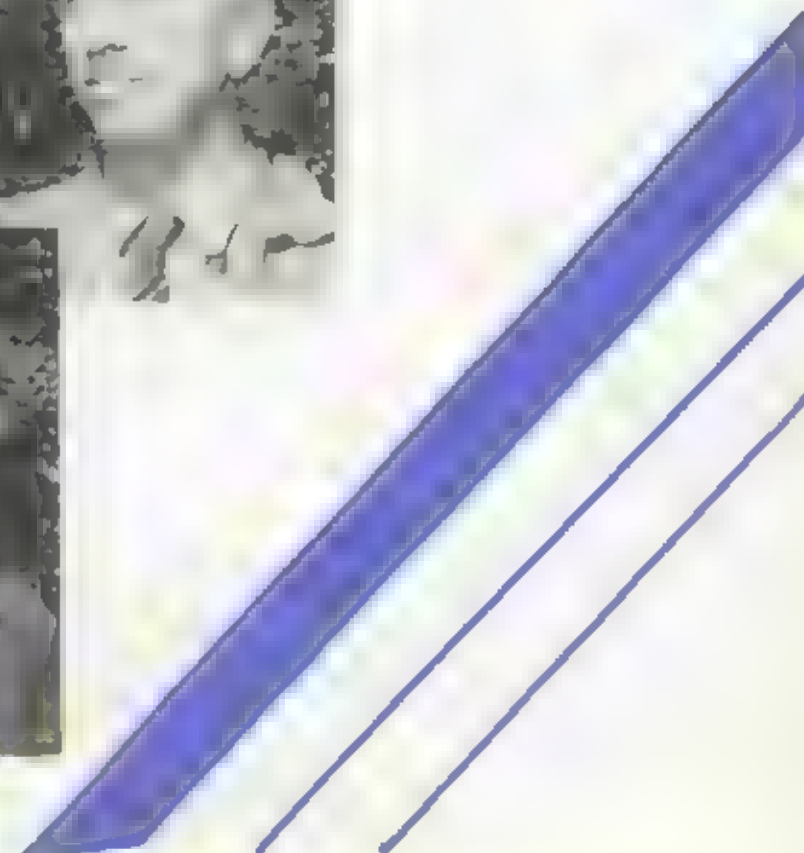

AL DUTZI, Head Custodian

RAY HAMILTON,
Auditorium Manager

LOUIS HAMANN
Bookstore Manager

... and the Business office

Mrs. FRIEDA GAY, secretary, presided over school switchboard, handled announcements over the loudspeaker

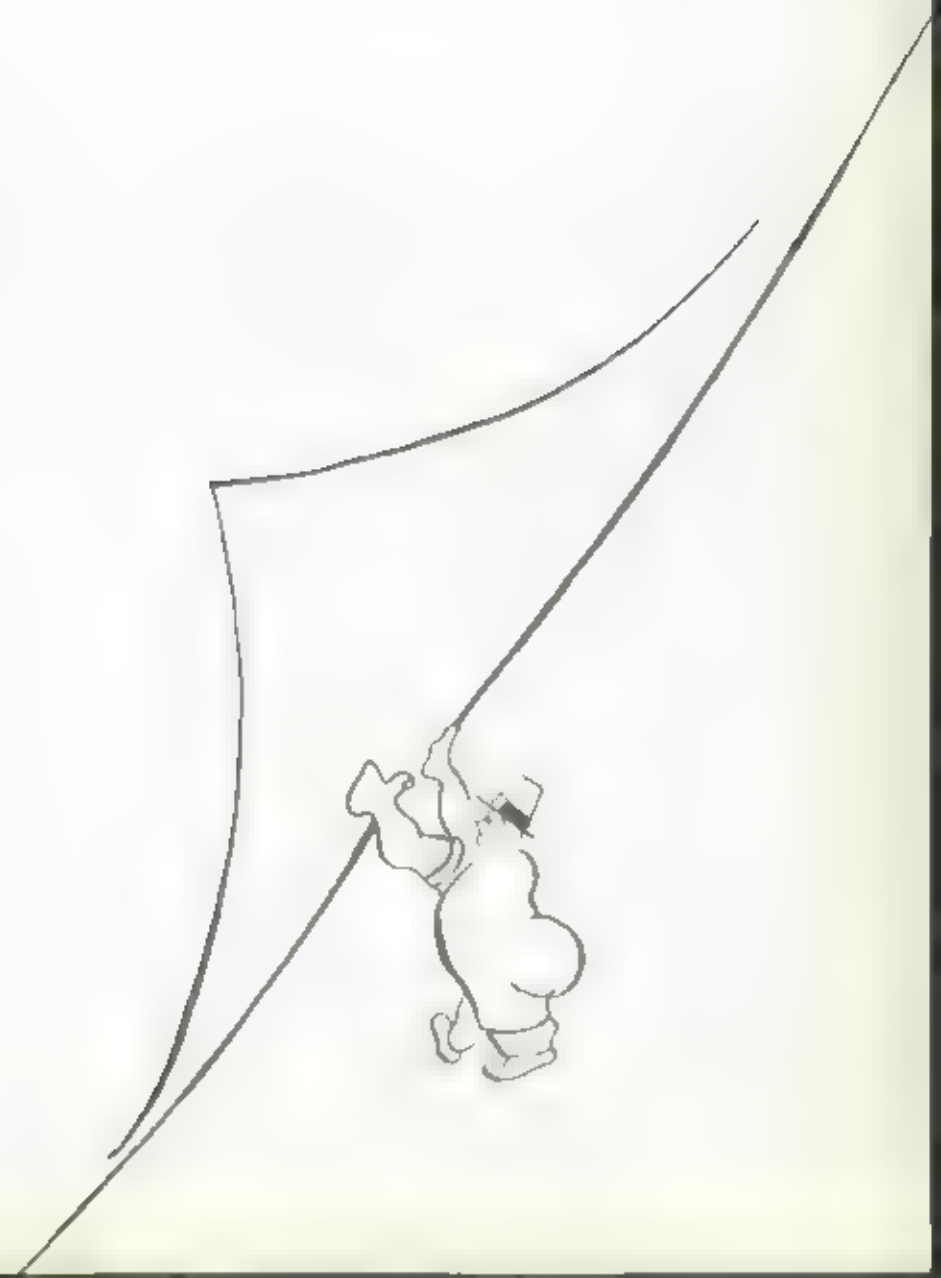

General school records were under direction of secretary Mrs. JUNE MACKAY

Mrs. LUCILLE DIERST, secretary to the superintendent, was new to AUHS this year; handled business for Mr. Demaree

Mrs. ELSIE BROOKS worked at keeping student finances straight; Mrs. DOROTHY PECK, at general accounting. Both were to be found in the school business office.

Now I'd Like to Have You See Some of

These are the familiar everyday sights . . . the most often recalled and longest remembered . . . your teachers and classrooms.

My Best Personal Snapshot

First, a long walk to the Music building

Top: WILLIAM "Bill" COOK, worked hard, made crack musicians of his popular band and orchestra kept right on filling up the music trophy case. Here he rehearses trumpet section

Center: Miss GANIA DEMAREE, vocal music teacher, worked equally hard, supplied spectacular vocal groups for any and all occasions. Here she directs Girls Glee

Bottom: Miss RUTH SWANSON, returned to AUHS this year after a short absence... resumed her capable teaching of instrumental and vocal techniques. She is shown here with piano student Charles Morris

... and a short visit to the Science
Department

Upper Right

GEORGE HEDSTROM, veteran chemistry teacher, flavored his courses with music, bright ties, and apples at Christmas time. He taught chemistry, general and senior math.

Above

Field trips, Bible club sponsorship, and general science were diversified specialties of KEMUEL ANDERSON, science teacher. He taught biology and advised Lambda Sigma.

Lower Right

FRANK KELLOGG, brisk and business-like Dean of Boys, taught physics. He also advised the Student Court, sponsored Toastmasters.

Next a quick trip through Photography, Journalism, and Dramatics classes . . .

ROBERT ROUTH, photography instructor, did business among enlargers, chemicals and classrooms. Witty and bustling, he taught Practical English classes too. Here he checks print for students.

Journalism instructor HOWARD HALL taught social English, advised Quill and Scroll, guided Anoranco and Colonist staffs. Talks over anouci dummy with editor Lucy Mazza.

Opening night 'jitters' exchange assemblies, and speech contest kept LOUISE HITT drama teacher, running this year.

. . . and on out to the Ag Department

Beaming AVON CARLSON, ag teacher, checks the work of Richard Mitabe and Joe Folkner. Future Farmer projects, livestock fair entries, and a myriad of other details kept both he and Mr. Hanson active

. . . and back past Art . . .

Miss VIRGINIA OAKLEY art teacher, supervised preparation of decorative materials for every occasion. She also taught craft classes

Up through English and Language classes . .

Polishing up English III and IV students for college English tests was a specialty of Mrs. ETHEL CAVERLY, head of the English department and sophomore advisor. Here she checks class work.

Supplies come out of the closet for the freshmen of Mrs. JESSIE SEWARD'S English class. Cheerful and friendly, she taught English I.

Miss DORA GENE GOLDER, English II teacher, clarifies an assignment for Gary Knox. Miss Golder also advised the Riding Club.

Presiding over her class is Miss GENEVIEVE BENNETT, English teacher. She also taught Latin, advised Latin club.

Miss VIRGINIA HUFF, witty and "muy inteligente", taught Spanish and counseled sophomores. Here Bill Goodman shows her class the location of Baja California.

. . and a quick trip through the Study Hall

Popular WILLIAM HUNSTOCK taught freshman and senior English . . . found time to coach championship basketball and football teams. Here he lectures. Don Goff listens.

Biggest class in school, the mammoth study hall, was presided over by Mrs. MARY HEINLEIN. Brisk, efficient Mrs. Heinlein also served as a substitute teacher. Here she works in the library

Miss ESTHER LITTON, Spanish teacher, quietly and competently managed study hall. Here she writes an assignment on the board

Top: Sharing the chores of study hall management was Miss MINNIE SPICER. Watchful and authoritative, she also taught general math

Lower: Miss REBA BROWN, cordial commander-in-chief of the library, was always ready to aid students in reference hunts, or to encourage reading appreciation. Here she talks with student librarian Donna Sangster

Clattering typewriters bring us to Commercial classes

PHILIP ENGBRETSON, business teacher, taught Typing I and II. Well-liked, convivial, he also served as FBLA advisor. Here he chats with Russell Noe Business English, bookkeeping, general business science, and secretarial practice were all taught by RALPH WINES, business instructor. Shown here with Marilyn Cordill and Bob Troutman, soft-spoken Mr. Wines also taught Typing I.

Miss KATHLEEN MCFAUL, commerce instructor, shows Don Swenson and Dick Bodine operation of business machinery. She taught Shorthand I and II, accounting, bookkeeping, secretarial practice, also advised the Commercial Club

... Sh-ooo-oh--people working--Math Classes

Overseeing assignments is Miss MARJORIE PIBEL, Algebra teacher. She also taught General Math and served as an advisor for the Future Teachers Club

Miss VELDA BARNES, geometry teacher, listens to Lee Webb explain a problem at the board. She also advised the Girls' League

Straightening out a problem for Carmen Lopez is General Math teacher CHESTER SHIRK. He also counselled, served as junior class advisor.

Social Studies

WILLIAM RICKEL was kept busy teaching senior problems classes. Shown here with student employee Jane Richards, he was also chief test supervisor, senior class advisor

Brilliant, understanding, CHARLES RINEHART taught senior problems. Always ready with extra advice for aspiring seniors, he headed the social studies department. Here he locates Korea for Pete Ford

Social Living instructor RALPH KINGSBURY also served as counselor. Here he lectures a class of sophomores.

WELDON BRAMLETT, freshman orientation teacher, is shown instructing a class. He also served as a counselor for sophomores.

. . . we find the Social Studies classes

FRED JETER instructed U. S. History students, counselled. Here he discusses grades with Glenn Kaminsky

Salt Lake City is located for a U. S. History class by tall, affable OSBORNE WHEELER. President of the faculty club, he also counselled, taught elementary algebra

G. C. BEALE new to the Anaheim campus this year instructed U. S. History classes and coached JV baseball. Here he grades class papers.

Neatly-dressed MASON HENRY taught social living classes, served as a counselor. He also acted as chief advisor for the sophomore class. He is seen checking over student work

Pert, attractive MAXINE DU COTY taught social living, counselled
Here she talks with Pal Farmer

Orientation instructor FAYE SCHULZ counselled, advised freshman class Here she discusses a problem with Lillian Najera

Miss BETTY BRITT, new orientation teacher this year, finds herself surrounded by freshmen Larry Newland, Danny Saloets and John Mary Attractive and soft spoken, she also taught general business science

CLAIRE VAN HOOREBEKE took time out from his coaching duties to teach practical English and orientation He is shown here chatting with Lucy Mazza

Smells of cooking foods draw us to Home Ec.

Mrs. BARBARA WALKER, foods teacher, will be remembered for her cheerful disposition, FHA sponsorship, and culinary tips. Here she shows Myra Harroun and Ramona Schley the trick of canning pears.

Miss NEVA SOLT, sewing teacher, helps Marion Simmons, lay out a dress pattern. Quiet and meticulous, she taught craftsmanship in dress making, sponsored the Red Cross Council

Real interest is shown by Joella Weisman, and Carol Sloman as Mrs. EVANGELINE DAVIS, sewing teacher, demonstrates how dresses are shortened. New to the campus this year, she also taught home living and home math

Standing before a lathe, RICHARD F. RYAN, woodshop instructor, shows Alvin Jenkins tricks of wood turning. Hard working and active, Mr. Ryan advised the Colonial Knights.

CLAUDE BOOTH, veteran shop instructor, forcefully and capably taught machine shop and Mechanical Arts. Here he shows Verne Granero operation of machine.

Mechanical drawing was well taught by HARRY L. BURDEN. Well liked and unassuming, he also taught Mechanical Arts.

LLOYD S. ROSS, patient and busy, kept a steady flow of printed matter flowing from the print shop. Here he assists Gerald Rees in making up Anoraco program.

Radio and electricity classes were taught by intelligent, well-dressed JAMES CARPENTER. He also taught general math classes.

DONALD W. BLUCKER, shop instructor, taught wood shop and shop math. Young and casual, he answered to the name of "Woody Woodshop."

Mr. Auto himself, LOWELL T. WILLIAMS, taught auto mechanics. Here, with Tei Tanaka looking on, he examines a generator.

Last but not least, the Boys' . . .

Junior and senior boys' gym was taught by warm-tempered, outspoken SAM KEITH. He also coached football, basketball, and track. Here he demonstrates a few points to basketballers Leonard Kolb, John Steinborn, and John Cyprien.

Short, muscular JOHN WALLIN instructed freshman, sophomore boys' physical education, also football, baseball. Here he takes time out from refereeing a game.

Teaching driver education and cadets were the main concerns of Captain WILLIAM HICKS, who also served as rifle team coach and Dee football coach. Here he talks with Lyle Bass.

... and Girls' Gym classes.

JO DERIGO efficiently headed the girls' gym department, taught junior, senior gym classes. She also coached senior G A A, girls

Sophomore girls' gym instructor SHIRLEY FAISO just completed three years of teaching, advised Colonial Co-eds. Here she demonstrates serving technique to Stella Lopez and Marion Caracausa

Lower Left: Smiling, Auburn-haired ELIZABETH WEBB cared for the health of Connies and Clems. Here she discusses a problem with Rose Marie Gram

Now the Long Awaited Look at Yourself.

Here are your friends . . . new ones and old ones . . . the friends you will never quite forget . . . your fellow students.

Although the Saints defeated the Colonists once, Anaheim came back in the second round to knock them out of the Sunset League race.

For the second year straight, Anaheim's cagers captured the Sunset League Championship, sharing the honors with Newport Harbor. Being counted out of the running at the halfway mark, having lost two and only enjoying three wins, they made a remarkable comeback to tie up the standings.

In every league game, at least one Colonist cager had to ride the bench because of illness. Even with just one of the original starting five out, the team was to suffer considerably.

Besides tieing of the league championship, the mighty Colonists won the Huntington Beach Tournament, and set a new record of 14 wins without a loss.

On the Diamond . . .

Here we have Eddie Herrera, hard hitting catcher and captain of the Varsity squad.

Bad luck at the beginning of the season dogged this year's varsity squad, but as time went on the group improved considerably.

The Colonists were a little weak at the plate, had accomplished the knack of dropping the ball on infield play, and had only fair pitching. This wasn't true throughout every game, but the Anaheim's defeats always seemed to come in one big inning.

The Colonists finally realized they could also win games and for the rest of the season played some mighty fine ball. The infield was snappy, every outfielder talked it up, and the pitchers all did better.

Benny Mattor, Colonist second bagger, heads for first after tapping a short grounder out toward the infield

Most of this year's varsity talent was made up of underclassmen and although they did not shine statistically, they should develop into a fine ball club.

This year Coach Wallin played many boys so that, although winning few games, much experience and confidence was built up.

Carl Hatfield, limber AU first sacker, makes the putout on the short single of a Newport horsehider.

Starting out with a "green-as-grass" squad, Coach Beale led Anaheim's JV team through a season that had seen them win seven out of 14 at the three-quarter mark.

Captained by John Wimber, they did more than serve as just a varsity manpower pool, but played good ball throughout the year.

On the Courts . . .

With one game to play Colonists netters were leading the hotly contested race for league championship, ahead of Santa Ana by a one win margin. Captains were Dan Holden and Don Eberhard.

Because of the early playoffs for the CIF the Colonists had already been picked over the Saints to represent the league because of their more impressive record. They lost thir first match to La Jolla, eventual finalists in CIF.

The noisy, cluttered

The advanced journalism class started off the year with a 'bang' by putting out a paper the first week of school. During the following weeks of the semester they put out several eight-page papers and a three-color edition at Christmas time.

Mr. Hall, class adviser was also starting them on the yearbook as they worked on the paper. At the end of the semester they completely turned the paper over to the third and fifth period journalism classes and worked only on the Yearbook.

Rose Marie Cram, editor in chief was aided by five able page and advertising editors, Neva Wedin Duncan, coverage editor; Joanne Saylor, feature editor; Dennis Denny, sports editor; Margaret Colbaugh, advertising editor; and Dick Rold, circulation editor.

Congratulations A. U. H. S. !

KWIKSET welcomes this opportunity to congratulate Anaheim Union High School and the Class of 1951 on the fine quality and spirit of the student body. It is the hope of Kwikset that the class of 1951 and each succeeding class finds in Anaheim a community of increasing opportunity. Our combined efforts can make it so.

Most cordially,

Key Person

Few people play more important roles in our community life than the Operator who handles hundreds of calls which go to make up the daily flow of telephone conversation.

Today, because of our nation's defense effort, the part she plays is more vital than ever. In times of emergency, whether it be fire, flood, earthquake or a stricken person needing an ambulance, she stands ready to speed messages. Because of this, a Telephone Operator soon acquires the knowledge that her job is an important job.

Acknowledgments

As this book nears completion, I look back over the many days of work and pleasure we put into it to put it into your hands.

First of all, I want to thank Mr. Howard Hall, patient adviser of the 1951 Colonist, who worked side by side with each of the section editors, Margaret Colbaugh, efficient advertising manager; Rose Marie Cram, clever faculty editor; Bruce Wallin, humorous art editor; Dodie Tangney, part activities editor; Neva Wedin Duncan, business-like administration editor; Ira Webber, personable sports editor; LaVerne Hooker, hard-working girls' sports editor; and Barbara Mary, willing and able clubs editor. They all did an exceptionally fine job.

My deepest thanks also go to Mr. Lloyd Ross, and Mr. Geo. Lutz, printers, who spent many long hours week after week, to make this annual attainable at this time. And we could not have got along without the students in journalism, photography, and printing classes, who helped us put this book together. Mr. Robert Routh was in charge of photography.

Many thanks to the merchants, whose advertisements and support made this annual possible. We thank, too, the Henderson Trade Bindery and Cover Company, the Peterson Engraving Company, and the General Paper Company for their wonderful cooperation.

Furthermore, I want to express my appreciation to the Art Department, and Miss Virginia Oakley, who made the sectionals possible. Last, but not least, I want to thank Joyce Kerr for her splendid cover creation.
